Vessel Information

Description: 2007 Cheoy Lee Pilothouse Yachtfisher 75 –
Long-Range Luxury & Offshore Capability

The superb Cheoy Lee Pilothouse Yachtfisher 75 has been meticulously designed for extended cruising in all weather conditions, combining impressive seakeeping with luxurious comfort and is currently based in New Zealand.

From the expansive cockpit to the covered mezzanine deck, and up the curved staircase to the flybridge with its hardtop and generous boat deck, she offers a variety of entertaining spaces ideal for socialising or relaxing at sea.

Her interior reflects exceptional craftsmanship, with curved cabinetry, walk-in cedar-lined dressing rooms, and cleverly concealed amenities such as a hidden washer/dryer.

Powered by twin 1000hp Caterpillar C18 shaft drive diesels, she delivers quiet performance with a smooth sea motion and a comfortable cruising speed of 15 knots. Twin Onan generators, 7,950L fuel capacity and 1,890L fresh water to ensure true long-range autonomy.

Accommodation includes three spacious staterooms – each with ensuite and generous storage – plus additional crew quarters. The open-plan galley, wheelhouse and dining area flow through to a comfortable saloon that opens onto the mezzanine deck, creating a seamless connection between indoor and outdoor living.

The bridge and boat deck provide excellent visibility and comfort in all conditions, complemented by an upgraded electronics package, stabilisers and an extensive list of premium options.
